THURSDAY MORNING MUSIC CLUB YEARS PLEASING PROGRAM

That the Albuquerque Thursday Morning Music club is going to do serious and interesting work is indicated more clearly with each succeeding program. This morning the club met as usual in the Woman's club for a program devoted to American composers. The paper of the day was by Mrs. F. W. Harden, and proved one of the most valuable the club has had. Mrs. Harden gave special attention to the music of McDowell, and his Indian suite, as the most typical American compositions we have, referring to the Indian lodge as the surest evidence of the composer's right to rank with the great names of music. She discussed Indian's work also, as thoroughly typical of the best in American composition, and gave some time to the creations of Victor Herbert and his Indian opera Sotomo. The discussion was a broad one and was thoroughly enjoyed.

Miss Betty Kedworthy played a double number, the Indian Love Song by Cadman, and a Victorian Hebrew number. Mrs. J. O. Schenck sang charmingly "As in a Rose" by Cadman and "Autobedouin" by Hobart. The McDowell number, double number, was by Miss Marie Higgins, who played the beautiful "Gardens" and the equally beautiful Shadow Dance with perfect technique and the brilliancy which these best of McDowell compositions require. Miss Dora Thorne sang "Looking Glass River," by Carpenter, and "Doris," by Nevin beautifully, and with a violin obbligato by H. C. Furmeyer. Miss Louise Nichols was accompanist of the day.

Students' Section Organized.

The students' section of this club, which promises to be one of the most useful sections, was organized last Saturday, with Mrs. E. L. Bradford as president, Miss Helen Goetz vice-president; Miss Pauline Borodale secretary, and Miss Mary Anderson, treasurer. The section will meet in future in the parlors of the First Presbyterian church at 1:30 o'clock the first and third Saturdays in each month. At the meeting last Saturday Mrs. Bimor conducted the work, reading a paper on German music and its influence on the music of the world.

Mrs. Bradford will be in charge of the next program, and will read a paper on "The Sonata Form and Its Influence in Music."

WHAT HAS BECOME PYTHIANS FURTHER PLANS FOR NEW CASTLE HALL

Man who Left Ten Year Old Daughter Stranded in Albuquerque Monday Night May be a Suicide.

SAID TO HAVE GIVEN EVIDENCE OF TROUBLE

Police Fail to Find any Trace of Man who Represented Himself as in Engineering Service of the Santa Fe

After investigation of the circumstances leading up to the disappearance of William Pierce, who vanished from his boarding house on West Silver avenue Monday night, leaving his ten-year-old daughter, the police today were unable to decide whether they were dealing with a simple case of child abandonment and bill-breaking or a tragedy. Although Pierce is said to have left debts amounting to $100 behind him, several of those who became acquainted with him during the two weeks he was in town said today that he had given them the impression of a man under stress of great trouble, and they believed the man had taken his life.

Pierce came to this city two weeks ago last Monday. He said he came from Winslow, Ariz., and represented himself as a man of wealth, and a construction engineer engineer in the Santa Fe company's service, according to the information gathered by the police. With him was a ten-year-old girl, whom he said was his daughter, Viola Mae. The child says he was her father, and those who became acquainted with the man and the child say the resemblance between them left no doubt of their relationship.

Pierce spoke often of his wealth, and the number of his investments. He is said to have begun negotiations with a cafe proprietor on South Second street for the purchase of the business. The cafe owner is one of several people who are said to have advanced the supposedly wealthy engineer money.

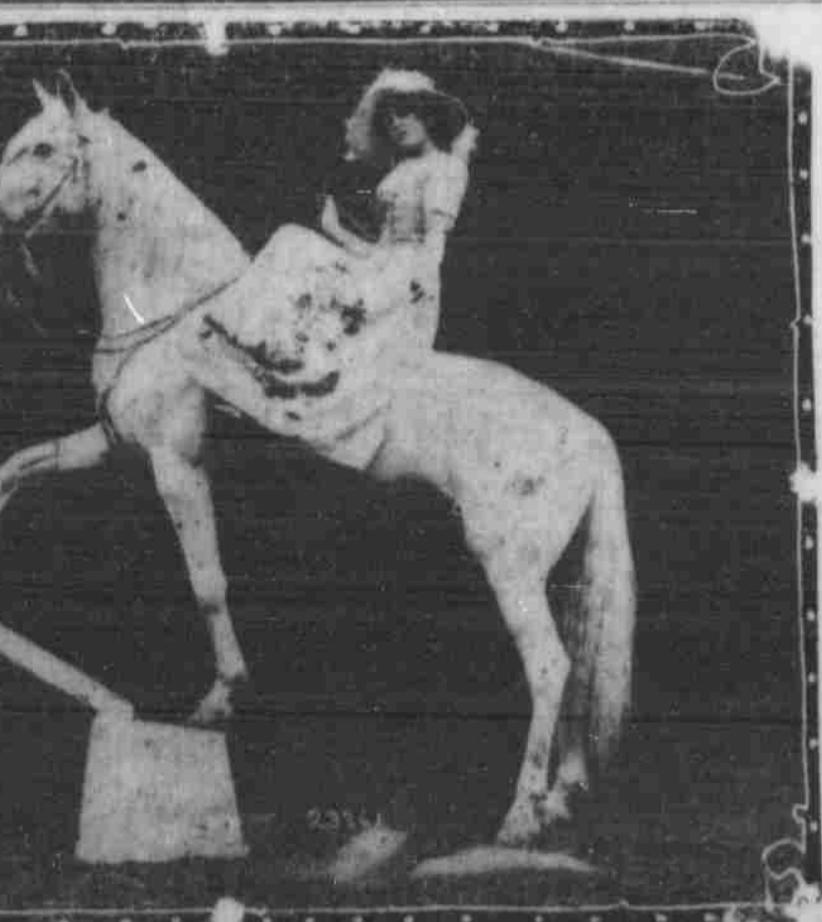

Pierce was about 45 years old, well dressed and of good presence. He talked like a man of education and culture, but to several of his new acquaintances he gave the impression of being somewhat "queer." He is said to have hinted at family troubles. A South Second-street businessman, who became acquainted with Pierce, said today that the latter on one occasion spoke gloomily of life, and said it wasn't worth living.

When Pierce failed to return to his boarding house Monday night the little girl was questioned, and she said her father had bade her farewell before leaving the house. He came to her very solemnly, she said, and kissed her, saying "It's too bad we have to part."

Then he left the house and vanished. From the time he passed the little girl made no trace of the man who had been found.

From the fact that Pierce traveled with his daughter and because of his general appearance and bearing those who had to do with him are not inclined to believe that he is the type of man who makes a business of running up debts and skipping out. The little girl's presence and the impression that he was under stress of some trouble leads to the fear that he went away to end his life.

Charitable people who have learned of the case are interesting themselves in the care of the little girl. They are trying to find a home for her. She is a bright, healthy child of cheerful disposition. Chief of Police McMillan is one of those who have been moved by compassion for the child's plight to help in the search for a home, and anyone who feels moved to give the forsaken little girl motherly care may communicate with the chief. Inquiries may also be made of John Kerr, Second street and Silver avenue.

Mrs. Rhoda Royal and her high school horse, "Bathhouse John," which will be seen in the exhibition of the Self-Photo Circus and Buffalo Bill himself when it exhibits here March 28. "Bathhouse John" is one of the troupe of thirty-six mule horses in the Rhoda Royal troupe. The dancing of the one-step, the hesitation waltz and the步步舞 are among their accomplishments.

ARBOR DAY WILL BE WELL OBSERVED IN ALBUQUERQUE

Children of Public Schools will have Special Programs and will Vote on State Flower.

WOMAN'S CLUB READY TO DISTRIBUTE TREES

University will Observe an all day Holiday and City Engineer Gladding will go Right on Working.

The founder of Arbor day ought to look on with high approval at the observance of the day which is to take place in Albuquerque tomorrow. The public schools, the university, the Woman's club, and the city engineer, all are going to observe the day, some by working, others by playing. With City Engineer Gladding it is all work. He has been observing Arbor day for two or three days, blasting holes in Highland park, in which to plant the three hundred trees given to the city by John Woodward and the twenty-five trees contributed by J. L. Topham. The city engineer expects to be able to qualify for a job in the silviculture department of the forest service by the time he is through with the job. He is also getting valuable experience in the use of dynamite as a first aid to the farmer.

The public schools tomorrow morning will begin observing the day by voting on the state flower. This vote was ordered by the state educational association at its meeting in Albuquerque last fall. Each class room will cast its vote which will be tabulated by the teacher and transmitted to City Superintendent Milne who will turn it in to the department of education at Santa Fe.

There will be special Arbor day exercises in most of the class rooms and the schools will close at 3 o'clock to permit any one who wants to go home and plant a tree to do so.

The woman's club will observe its annual custom of distributing trees and shrubs to those who desire to plant them. This work is in charge of the civic department of the club and all those having trees or shrubs to contribute are asked to leave them at the club by 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

At the university Arbor day will be a play day. Then S. Wansey, Jr., of the forest service will deliver an Arbor day address at 11 o'clock in Rodey hall, and in the afternoon the professors will play base ball with the team from the junior and senior classes. At night the students will have an open air bonfire banquet in the amphitheatre.

OKUMA URGED TO HEAD NEW JAPANESE CABINET

(By Leased Wire to Evening Herald.)

Toledo, March 28.—Strong efforts are being made to induce the emperor to designate Count Shigenobu Okuma as head of the new Japanese cabinet. It has been urged on his behalf that Count Okuma, who was formerly foreign minister, is a powerful and popular statesman. Although he is a leader of the Progressive party it is pointed out that he is capable of forming a strong coalition cabinet calculated to please the Japanese public and to create good feeling throughout the empire at the period of the approaching coronation.

The conservatives have given indications that they will oppose the choice of Count Okuma and the older statesmen today held a long conference on the subject.

The members of the house of representatives whose sittings were suspended a few days ago, reassembled today and immediately passed a resolution to adjourn until December.
